Betty Jean Riddle Prepares For Long Tour Of Denmark

A Pickaway County girl and a colleague in Ohio State university were making final preparations Saturday for trips into Europe.

From this area is Betty Jean Riddle of Orient, a statuesque junior in Ohio State's college of agriculture, a major in rural sociology.

Her colleague is Richard Taylor, a third year student in OSU, who is majoring in agricultural education.

Miss Riddle will be going to Denmark while Taylor is destined for a tour of Greece.

And right now, the Pickaway County lass is not only packing suitcases, she is listening to phonograph records and sharpening pencils.

THE RECORDS are language discs she has been sent to help acquaint her with the Scandinavian language she will be encountering all Summer.

And the pencils will be used in taking notes for the news letters she will be sending back to Pickaway County.

Miss Riddle has been retained by The Circleville Herald to give a detailed account of her experiences from the time she leaves an east coast airfield, through her tour in Denmark and back home.

She will send her news letters at frequent intervals, probably once a week.

Miss Riddle and Taylor will be the first Ohio delegates to take part in an International Farm Youth Exchange Project aimed at development of an informed junior farm leadership. Under the program, some 45 young men and women from 27 states will live and work with farm families abroad to get a better understanding of international relationships and the problems of world peace.

In the United States the youth exchange project is a cooperative one between the federal office of the Agriculture Extension Service and the state offices of the service in each of the state agricultural colleges. It is conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation, Inc., and financed out of funds donated to it.

TO SEND TWO Ohio delegates abroad, and to receive four exchanges from foreign countries in return, some 60 different farm youth groups, university campus societies, rural organizations and individuals contributed approximately $2,000 during the past year.

The fund-raising campaign in Ohio was spearheaded by an International Farm Youth Exchange Committee, made up of three Ohio State university faculty members and two representatives each from the university's 4-H Club, its Grange and the University Farm Bureau Youth Council. Junior Dean Wilbur B. Wood of the college of agriculture is secretary of this committee.

The Ohio State student delegates were selected from among 25 outstanding farm youths enrolled in the University at the present time.

Miss Riddle, who will live and work with a farm family in Denmark, was reared on the 825-acre farm owned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Riddle, near Orient.

She has had seven years' experience in 4-H Club work and won the state 4-H club health contest in 1947. While maintaining a high scholastic record, she has been active in church youth work as well as in dramatic and music societies.

Taylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Riddle, near Orient. (Continued on Page Two)

Capital Awaiting Acheson's Return

State Secretary Books Parley With President And Congress

WASHINGTON, May 27—Secretary of State Acheson returns from the Atlantic Pact conference in London today to consult President Truman on many grave decisions affecting American strategy in the Cold War.

The secretary arrives in New York aboard the SS Britannic on the eve of a crucial round in the East-West battle to be staged in Berlin.

Acheson will fly at once to Washington aboard President Truman's private plane and then motor to his country home for the weekend. But he will spend the Sabbath in watchful waiting.

On Sunday, thousands of Soviet zone youth plan to storm into Western Berlin for a gigantic political demonstration. But the armed and alert against the post-U. S. and its Cold War allies are sibility that the rally is a "Trojan horse" attempt to drive them out of the former Nazi capital.

Some reports from Germany indicate that the tension over the situation has eased recently because of the West's firm determination to stay in Berlin. But all government officials, especially Acheson, will spend a tense weekend.

the travel of Romanian diplomats in the United States.

The edict, issued yesterday, confines their movements within 35 miles of Washington. They may go farther but only with special permission.

Any member of the Romanian legion who violates the rule may be declared "persona non grata" and his recall demanded. The action was in retaliation for the restrictions placed on the movements of U. S. diplomats in Bucharest.

Britain and France may take similar action in event the Communist regimes become as tough with their diplomats as they have with the Americans.

New Housing Deals Ready

Denver Setting Pace In Nation

WASHINGTON, May 27—This Summer, the government's new low rental housing program grinds into operation throughout the country.

At this point, seven projects are definitely lined up in four cities, but other areas are expected to join in the construction work before Fall.

Housing authorities in Denver appear to be setting the pace for the rest of the nation.

Late in March, Denver authorities signed the first public housing administration contract calling for construction of 1,000 units in four projects at a maximum development cost of $9,969,000.

Ground is expected to be broken in early August and the entire job probably will be finished in 1951.

The National Association of Housing Officials reports that "both one and two-story buildings are to be used in the four projects, with two to eight single-family units in each building." The dwellings will have from one to three bedrooms.

In addition, these other contracts have been signed with the government:

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., a 504-unit project costing up to $5,304,000; New Orleans, a 234-unit project costing $2,471,000; and Kingsport, Tenn., a 36-unit project costing $355,000.

The association also reports that another 8,696 dwelling units in 94 localities were in the pre-construction stage and another seven projects were being planned as part of former housing development.

All told, the government expects to build 810,000 units under the program in the next six years.

160-Mile Swim Being Attempted

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., May 27—George Holderby hasn't been in the water since last year, but today he will try to swim a 160-mile distance down the Ohio river from Huntington to Cincinnati.

The 43-year-old Holderby figures to make the trip in about 35 hours, aided by the five million-hour river current.

He has indicated that "if I'm not tired" he may go beyond Cincinnati and attempt to pass the long distance fresh water record of 292 miles set on the Mississippi river in 1940 by John V. Sigmund of St. Louis.

3 Autos, Truck Involved In Holiday Mishap

Three holiday-bound passenger cars and a truck were practically demolished Saturday morning in Route 23 in Ross County.

Deputy Carl Radcliff of Pickaway County, assisting in the accident, said the series of mishaps began when a southbound auto and a northbound truck sideswiped.

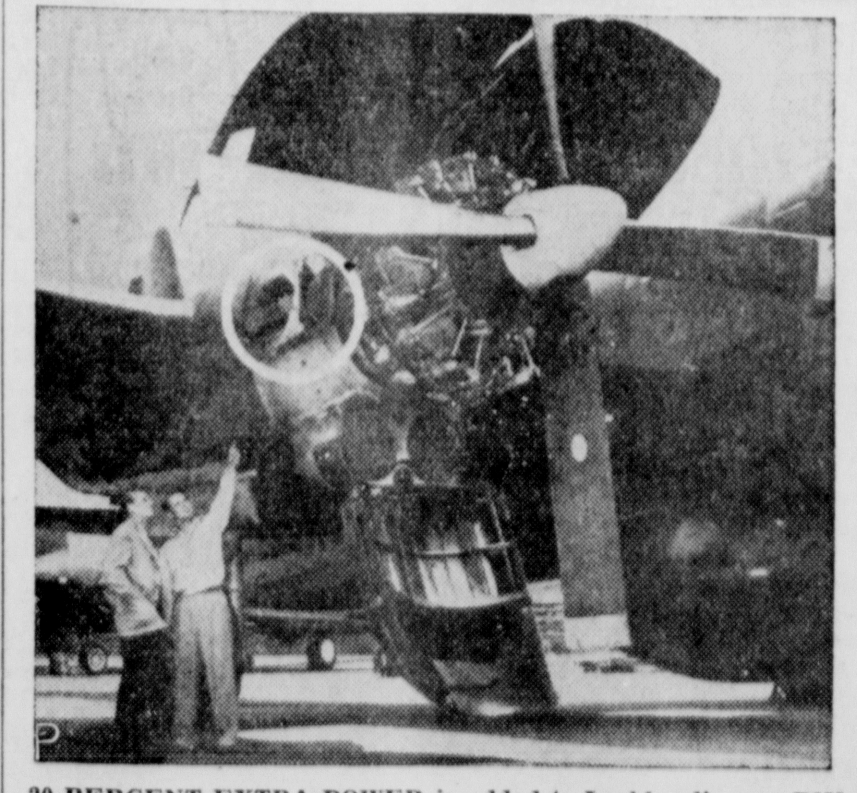

The accident occurred at the Blackwater Creek bridge, Radcliff said, two miles south of the Pickaway-Ross County line.

The deputy reported that an auto from Cleveland was leaving the bridge as the truck entered. Following the sideswipe, the truck swerved across the road to the left, Radcliff said, striking another southbound auto and plunging through a guard rail into a field.

Another southbound auto, following closely, was smashed in the front end when the car ahead of it was trust backward by the impact of the truck, according to State Highway Patrolman Charles Wallace.

Several persons were injured in the freak accident. The more seriously injured persons were rushed to Chillicothe hospital for treatment, the deputy said, while the other injured persons were given treatment in Berger hospital.

The mishap was being investigated by the State Highway Patrol of Ross County.

20 PERCENT EXTRA POWER is added to Lockheed's new P2V Neptune anti-submarine patrol plane with a combination propeller and jet design that utilizes waste energy from the exhaust. This boosts horsepower to 3,200 from Wright turbo-cyclone 18 compound engine's normal 2,700. Circle marks three small gas turbines. Extra power permits shorter takeoffs and enables plane to operate at lower power, thus increasing range. Test pilot Stan Beltz (left) and engineer John Stockdale look it over in California.

NAVY SECRETARY Francis Matthews (left) is presented with Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Day wreaths of Buddy poppies by Omar Ketchum (center), executive director, Washington VFW, and Vice Adm. Leland P. Lovette, public relations director, VFW. The anchor-shaped wreath will be dropped in the Pacific off San Diego and the Maltese cross will be dropped on the Potomac river on Memorial Day in tribute to U. S. sailors who died in both world wars. Poppies similar to these were being sold on Circleville's streets Saturday.

WASHINGTON, May 27—The Senate bill to freeze out big time bookmaking looks like an odd-on favorite today to be left at the post for the rest of this session of Congress.

The measure would outlaw interstate transmission of reception of betting information on dog and horse races. It emerged with unanimous approval from the Senate Commerce Committee only to meet a demand for further consideration by the upper chamber's judiciary committee.

The request, which was approved by Commerce Chairman Edwin Johnson, (D) Colo., means the bill must undergo another round of committee hearings. With congressional adjournment hardly more than around the turn, the proposal might still be in the judiciary committee paddock when the senators go home.

Judiciary Committee Chairman McCarran, (D) Nev., pointed out that the bill deals with a gambling situation which the $150,000 special crime committee headed by Sen. Kefauver, (D) Tenn., is supposed to investigate. McCarran added:

"YOU CAN BE very sure that if the Kefauver committee comes in with a bill after its investigation, it will go to judiciary."

"This commerce committee bill looks exactly like the kind of bill the Kefauver committee might come up with. It might be a mistake to pass this bill before we see what they bring in."

Sen. McFarland, (D) Ariz., who headed the commerce subcommittee which drafted the anti-bookie bill, said he would have something to say to day about whether there will be any further hearings.

The measure makes it a crime to transmit or receive "bets or wagers, the scratches, jockey (Continued on Page Two)

Rep. Lesinski Dies At Age 65

DEARBORN, Mich., May 27—Representative John Lesinski, (D) Mich., died early today after suffering a heart attack at his home here.

The 65-year-old Lesinski was chairman of the House Labor Committee and one of the administration's key men in the House of Representatives. He had served nine successive terms in the House since his election in 1933.

Germany's Youth Due For 'March'

Showdown May Be Only Propaganda

BULLETIN

BERLIN, May 27—Communist eastern zone police fired across the Berlin sector border today in the first flare-up of the Whitsuntide Communist youth rally. Western Berlin officials said that shots were fired into the United States sector in connection with an alleged kidnapping incident.

BERLIN, May 27—American and Western Allied troops were ordered today to "shoot to kill if necessary" to prevent any Communist attempt to seize control of Berlin during East German Communist youth demonstrations.

"Free German Youth" were assembled in eastern sectors for a mass demonstration at the climax of the Whitsuntide holiday.

Western military forces with tanks and full battle gear were on combat alert to meet any eventuality despite protestations that the mass Whitsuntide rally will not overflow its bounds from the east.

U. S. military police increased the number of their patrols throughout the American sector.

American officials said troops will be sent into action at any time German police in the western sector are unable to deal with the situation.

A constant liaison was being maintained with West Berlin police. The forces are equipped with "mob persuaders" which include tear gas equipment and high pressure water hoses.

HUNDREDS OF Germans seeking a "holiday from fear" fled to the western zones of Germany.

Authorities described the flight as the "biggest exodus of its kind since blockade days."

But the long-awaited showdown in Berlin appeared to be nothing more than a propaganda battle at present.

The Social Democrats in the western sector released 7,000 balloons, carrying anti-Communist leaflets, to be carried by the prevailing winds into the east sector.

One sticker leaflet showed a horror-stricken young woman with a child in her arms being leered at by a Soviet soldier. The leaflet bore the words "Day of Liberation."

Another showed Soviet soldiers herding German prisoners eastward and bore the caption, (Continued on Page Two)

Ex-Bank Chief Awaiting Call Before Court

Ex-banker Nelson E. Reichelderfer of Circleville Saturday was waiting in his home for a summons to appear for arraignment before federal court in Columbus.

Reichelderfer is accused of making false entries in the books of Circleville Savings and Banking Co. while operating the bank as its executive vice-president.

The Circleville bank man was arrested Thursday in his home by federal authorities when an audit of the bank's books showed a shortage of about $7,000.

The former vice-president was asked to resign his post in the Circleville bank May 11 when the directors of the company noticed "irregularities" in the accounts.

Reichelderfer claimed he had received "starvation pay" in his 16 years of "running the bank." He said he quit a job as a state bank examiner to take over the (Continued on Page Two)

"Just Remember, This Is Freedom."

The Western press also said that residents of Eastern Berlin were irritated by the overcrowding and food shortages caused by the influx of demonstrators.

Some of the "imported" youth were said to be passive, when not belligerently violent in their resistance against taking part in the rally.

On the Soviet side, Neuzzeit accused the Western authorities of trying to "lure" the youth with promises of food as "bait" as part of a plan to disturb the Whiteside march.

ADN, the Soviet-licensed news agency, said that 500,000 youths had arrived in Berlin for the rally, a claim which was not confirmed by any other source.

THE WESTERN military forces, totaling some 8,500 troops, including 4,000 United States soldiers, stood by to prevent, even at the risk of war with Russia, any Communist incursion.

There was real belief, however, that the Communists will abstain from creating any serious disorders on a large scale in Western Berlin.

In fact, one of the main pre-occupations of East German authorities seemingly was to prevent the demonstrating "Free German Youths" from slipping into Western Berlin.

Some 50 bicycling German Communist youths attempted last night to cross into Western Berlin, but they were dispersed easily by German police who prevented any fights.

Couple Killed Erecting TV

DAYTON, May 27 — Four small children were without a father and mother today because of an attempt to put up a television aerial.

The victims were 33-year-old James A. Ryan and his wife, Lois, 26, of nearby Fairborn. Ryan was erecting the aerial at the side of his home yesterday afternoon when the tip of the antenna touched a 12,000-volt power line. The charge of current killed Ryan outright. His wife rushed out and made the mistake of touching her husband's body. She died almost instantly.

British Plane Bringing Relief

LONDON, May 27—A stripped-down British Overseas Airways Corporation Stratocruiser will wing its way from London to Winnipeg today with relief supplies for flood-stricken Winnipeg. The BOAC speedbird "Caledonia," stripped of seats and all passenger amenities, leaves London carrying 18,500 pounds of piece goods. The flight from London will be made via Keflavik, Iceland, and Montreal. It is believed that the Stratocruiser will stop overnight in Montreal for crew rest and continue its journey to Winnipeg the next day.

Street-Painting Jobs Underway By City Aides

You can't say you didn't know you were taking your half of the street out of the middle.

Circleville service department workers report that painting of white traffic lines down the centers of Court and Main streets has been completed.

In addition lines have been painted along the center of U. S. 22 and State Route 188 within the corporation limits, according to Safety Director, John Neuding. The art work is to include the painting of yellow safety zone and the white parking blocks beside parking meters.

A new machine for painting the lines was put to use this week for the first time. The machine, a gravity feed job, was purchased this Spring by the service department.

Completion date of the line-painting is indefinite, "depending on the weather."

Reichelderfer said he twice took money from the bank, the first time in 1944.

"But I was never able to get enough money ahead to balance up. I could make money for other people, but not for myself. The bank paid dividends every year, except the first three I was there."

"I think the shortage could have been fixed up," said this graying grandad of two and the father of five grown sons.

ON WITH THE SHOW
Don't Miss 'Prince Of Peace'

Amateur Actors
Outshine Pros
By PEGGY STARR
Theater Writer

SELDOM DO WE give a film our unqualified recommendation. In the past, we've done so with "Hamlet," "Red Shoes," "Jolson Sings Again," "Lost Boundaries" and "Home of the Brave."

We now add the Lawton story of "The Prince of Peace," which opened today at the Allen. Anyone missing this picture, whether he be religious or atheistic, is depriving himself of a dramatic experience not likely to be felt in the movie theater for a long time.

Its simple, reverent and faithful portrayal of the life of Jesus Christ is a thing of beauty. Hollywood rarely produces with complete fidelity this kind of movie. And, with wisdom, the Hal movie studios, story producers, Roach-passed professional actors, ex-could never reach such heights. And even the professionals that are used, apparently became so infused with the spirit of Lawton's pageant, that they lost their cinematic mannerisms.

Millard Coody, who plays Jesus, is an outstanding example of the actor in the first part of the film he appears in his real-life role of a Lawton bank teller. But when you see him as Christ, you will hardly believe that he could be such a mundane person. His gentleness and strength come, not through dramatic coaching, but from a feeling in the soul.

Darlene Bridges, a Lawton housewife and mother, has a mystery and kindness which fits her perfectly for her role as the Virgin Mary.

And as it goes on down the line. Every performance is a gem.

DIRECTOR William Beaudin avoided Hollywood "names" for his professional parts.

'Defense' To Be Topic Of Sermon

Program of worship in First Methodist church will begin at 9:15 a. m. with church school. The three divisions of the school meet separately for devotional worship periods, followed by class discussion and Bible study. Junior church, supervised by Mrs. George Schaub and Mrs. Roloff Wolford, is presenting a course in home missions on the migrant people of our land. The text used is, "Sandy and Mr. Jalopy."

Mrs. Ervin Leist, church organist, will introduce the adult worship with the prelude: "Andante Religioso." As a special feature of the program, a trio consisting of Jeannine Bell, Marjorie Thornton and Beverly Reid will sing: "The Prayer Perfect."

The senior choir, directed by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing the anthem "The Lord is My Light," and morning hymns will be "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "O Beautiful for Spacious Skies."

For his Memorial Day sermon the Rev. Elisha Kneisley will speak upon the theme: "Our Bulwarks of Defense." The Rev. Mr. Kneisley stated:

"The sermon is based on two remarkable statements; one from the twentieth Psalm and the other from a quotation taken from the farewell address of George Washington.

"The first is 'In the Name of Our God, we will set up our Banners'; the second, 'Let us erect a banner unto which the wise and prudent may resort.'

"Both quotations have a direct bearing on national life and they both place a religious emphasis as the basis of good government.

"Today our mind's thought is on Memorial Day. The day had a small beginning, when the good women of the South, out of an expression of love, placed flowers on the graves of their soldier dead one day each year. Since that time it has become a national custom.

"We are fortunate in living in a land where we can do things both collectively, and individually. That means we have general liberties. If we are to keep these liberties we must have banners that we can set up, unto which the wise and prudent may resort.

Presbyterian Services Set

Memorial Day will receive special emphasis Sunday in worship service in Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Donald Mitchell will preach on the subject "How Shall We Honor Them?"

Mrs. Clark Will is to direct the choir in the anthem "Arise, O Lord" and "Recessional." Mrs. Theodore L. Huston will play "Hymn of Glory," "In Memoriam" and "God of Our Fathers" at the organ.

Sunday school, Bible study classes will meet at 9:30 in the assembly room; the primary department in the social rooms.

Westminster orchestra, directed by Mrs. Kermit Dountz, will play music appropriate to Memorial Day and accompany the hymn singing.

Calvary EUB Plans Rites

Memorial Sunday will be observed in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church this week.

The services will open with Sunday school at 9 a. m. directed by Superintendent C. O. Leist.

Morning worship service will be held at 10 a. m., featuring the Christian Caroler's Choir, directed by Mrs. J. A. Herbst, on "How Blessed The Nation."

The Rev. James A. Herbst has selected "A Memorial To God" as his sermon theme for the service.

There will be no evening service because of the baccalaureate service in First EUB church.

Highroads Of Universe

By DR. J. GLOVER JOHNSON
Professor of Religion
Marietta College

Prayer differs from meditation about God in that it thinks of Him in the second person—"Thou"—while contemplation thinks of Him in the third person—"He." Prayer, therefore is direct social fellowship with God. As such it is the highest privilege within the power of man. Heiler significantly begins the closing paragraph of Prayer with these words:

"As the mysterious linking of man with the Eternal, prayer is an incomprehensible wonder, a miracle of miracles which is daily brought to pass in the devout soul."

As has already been implied, prayer has inestimable value for personality growth. It affords one a Great Confidant to whom one can open his heart and mind in confession of mistakes. This is one of the deepest needs of human nature. Otherwise, unwholesome and dangerous repressions are built up within the self. A feeling of self-conscious guilt is injurious to the constructive development of the self. Prayer for forgiveness to the God Revealed by Jesus Christ removes this danger.

It does not stop there. It moves on beyond that point and gives one the greatest possible spiritual and mental strength by seeing one's life linked with that of God in living from day to day. It is of invaluable assistance to know that one does not battle alone in the "struggle for existence."

But prayer should not be for oneself alone. One only improves oneself in selfishness if confession and self-strengthening are the boundary-lines of his praying. The "model prayer," which Jesus gave to his disciples upon their request, shows that the outreach and emphasis in prayer should be social rather than individualistic.

"Our Father who art in heaven."

Hallowed by thy name
Thy Kingdom come.
Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth.
Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors.
And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil."

Prayer, therefore, has great potentiality in developing one's social point of view.

The importance of prayer cannot be overstated.

1st EUB Plans Time Change On June 4

First Evangelical United Brethren church will initiate a unified church school and morning worship plan beginning June 4.

This new venture is planned to meet the needs of persons who wish to attend church service and also go elsewhere on Sunday.

The service will begin at 9:30 a. m. and close at 10:40 a. m. Order of worship will be followed with church school.

Fidelis Chorus and adult choir will sing as scheduled and the Rev. Carl L. Wilson will deliver the sermon. Classes will then retire to their rooms for the regular lesson study.

The new schedule is to permit a combination of the regular church school and morning worship in one hour and ten minutes.

Evening worship will be discontinued until Sept. 10. The unified service will be the only public worship of the day in First EUB church during June, July and August.

not be exaggerated. As will be said later on, God supplies the deep spiritual power for stimulating man toward his highest self-realization. Man supplies only the guidance of his own behavior. Intelligence would seem to indicate, therefore, that man should wish to keep more consciously in touch with the source of spiritual energy in the universe. Prayer is the means by which man can best keep himself in contact with this mysterious force.

In the words of W. E. Orchard: "True prayer brings us into contact with God, and so releases mighty power for the redemption and elevation of humanity. If this contact is, however, intermittent and easily broken, it is no wonder that this mighty power remains latent, undeveloped, sporadic."

Heiler has emphasized this same point in saying that: "Without prayer faith remains a theoretical conviction; worship is only an external and formal act; moral action is without spiritual depth; man remains at a distance from God; an abyss yawns between the finite and the Infinite."

The best way in which to understand the meaning of prayer is to see what it meant for Jesus. His prayer-life reflects a complete trust in God. This kind of trust should bring relief to the conscientious person who feels full responsibility for the discouraging task of transforming his own character. It manifests a calm relaxation which should show the tension-filled person of modern times the priceless, yet largely undiscovered, castle of the human spirit. It proves the possibility of a much closer coordination of the will of the individual with the will of God. It should convince one, therefore, that prayer makes possible the life of richest self-fulfillment.

Church Briefs

Wednesday activities in First Evangelical United Brethren church will be rehearsal of Fidelis Chorus at 6:30 p. m.; prayer and Bible study at 7:30 p. m. in the Sunday school room; and adult choir rehearsal at 8 p. m.

He is en route to Chicago, where he will be a parish priest. He says the fate of Cardinal Mindszenty is not known "even in Hungary." (International)

Lutherans Schedule Memorials

Trinity Lutheran church will hold a special Memorial Day church service this Sunday. All hymns, scripture readings, prayers, anthems and the sermon will be of patriotic nature.

The service will begin at 10:15 a. m. with the sermon "Memorial Day, a day of Lingerings Memories," delivered by the Rev. George L. Troutman. The theme is developed from the text of 1 John 5:4: "For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?"

The chancel will be decorated for the service with floral tributes from the members. These memorial tributes will be received prior to the service.

Trinity Lutheran Church extends an invitation to visitors who have no church affiliations to attend the service.

The Rev. Mr. Troutman will deliver the baccalaureate address for Pickaway Township school seniors at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Trinity Lutheran church will prepare for its 25th annual Bible school with registration at 2:30 p. m. Friday. The school is open for all boys and girls of the community between the ages of 5 and 17 inclusive. No registration fee is needed. The school is financed by Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood.

Regular classes will begin June 5 at 9 a. m. Classes will be dismissed each day at 11:30 a. m.

Courses in the school will include classes in music, Bible stories, handwork, carpentry, dramatics and Bible study. Registrations will close at 9 a. m. June 7. The school will be conducted for three weeks, Mondays through Fridays.

'Singspiration' Rites Readied

A special "singspiration" song service will be held in Church of the Nazarene at 9 p. m. Sunday following evangelistic services.

The "singspiration" will consist of solos, duets and trios featuring talent of the church and from other churches in the city.

Sunday school and morning worship will be combined at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Sermon for the combined service will be "The Blessedness of Divine Relationship," delivered by the Rev. D. E. Clay.

Young people of the church are to meet at 7:15 p. m., followed by the evangelistic service at 8 p. m.

Church Officers Booked For 1st EUB Ceremonies

Completing the stewardship emphases for the month of May, First Evangelical United Brethren church Sunday will install all general church, auxiliary and Sunday school class officers and teachers during worship at 10:30 a. m.

Dr. B. H. Cain, department of church extension, Dayton, will be the installing officer.

Dr. Cain, former superintendent of the St. Joseph conference in Indiana, has been with the church extension department since 1937. He majors in stewardship, having written several books and a number of pamphlets which have received wide distribution in church circles.

Congregational hymns to be sung in the service are "Open My Eyes, That I May See" and "True-Hearted, Whole-hearted." Scriptural exhortation "To the Work" will be read from St. Matthew 9:35-38; 10:1-20; and I Corinthians 3:9-17.

Lucille Kirkwood will play "Vision," "God Is a Spirit" and "Coronation March" at the organ. The adult choir, directed by Ray Beery, will sing the anthem "Like as a Father" with solo by Clarence Radcliffe.

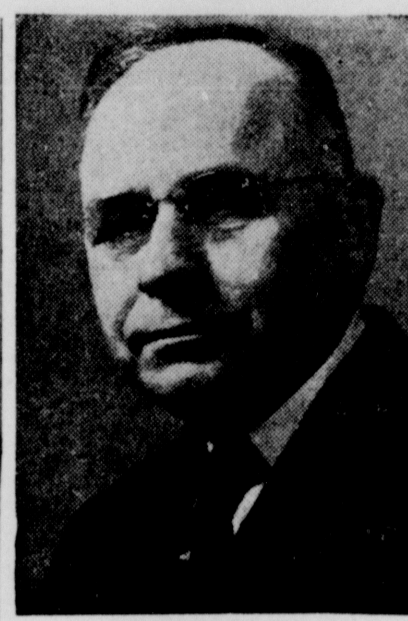

Mrs. Paul Dawson, Gladys Noggle and Mrs. Ezra Pritchard, members of the board of Christian Education, will call the roll of their respective departmental officers, who shall assemble at the altar for the consecration service.

Pilgrimages To Rome Set In Cleveland

Members of the official Cleveland diocesan Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome will visit the world-famous Shrines of Our Lady of Lourdes, Ste. Theresa of Lisieux—the Little Flower—and St. Francis of Assisi, as well as the Eternal City.

The Rev. Edward J. Halloran, diocesan director of the Holy Name Society, will personally lead the pilgrimage, which is sponsored by the Rev. Edward F. Hoban, bishop of Cleveland. Bishop Hoban has appointed American Express-Catholic Travel League to handle all arrangements for the major pilgrimage.

Members will sail from New York in the M. V. Britannic on Sept. 21 and in the RMS Queen Mary Sept. 29. After visiting Ireland, the first group will join the second in Paris for the rest of the itinerary.

At each of the important shrines, Father Halloran will celebrate mass for the members.

While in Rome, they will visit the four major basilicas—St. Peter's, St. Paul's Outside-the-Walls, St. John Lateran and St. Mary Major—to pray for the Holy Year Intentions announced by Pope Pius XII, and to gain the Jubilee Indulgence. They will visit the ancient catacombs, the Vatican museums, and other points of historic and religious interest in the Eternal City. An audience with the pope is planned.

The official itinerary also includes visits to Paris, Nice, Florence, Venice and Lucerne. An extension will visit Barcelona, Madrid and Lisbon. Members joining this extension will visit the Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima in Portugal.

Micah Gives Hope of Salvation

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Micah 4:1-5; 5:2-4; 7:18-20.

By Alfred J. Buescher

Micah painted a lovely picture of Israel when Jehovah had forgiven the people their sins: "The mountain of Jehovah's house shall be established on the top of the mountains . . . and peoples shall flow unto it."

"And they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

"But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of Jehovah of hosts hath spoken it, thus the prophet comforted his people."

"Out of Bethlehem shall come One that is to be ruler in Israel . . . And He shall stand and shall feed His flock in the strength of Jehovah." Micah prophesied. MEMORY VERSE—Micah 4:2.

'Defense' To Be Topic Of Sermon

Program of worship in First Methodist church will begin at 9:15 a. m. with church school. The three divisions of the school meet separately for devotional worship periods, followed by class discussion and Bible study.

Junior church, supervised by Mrs. George Schaub and Mrs. Roloff Wolford, is presenting a course in home missions on the migrant people of our land. The text used is, "Sandy and Mr. Jalopy."

Mrs. Ervin Leist, church organist, will introduce the adult worship with the prelude: "Andante Religioso." As a special feature of the program, a trio consisting of Jeannine Bell, Marjorie Thornton and Beverly Reid will sing: "The Prayer Perfect."

The senior choir, directed by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing the anthem "The Lord is My Light," and morning hymns will be "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "O Beautiful for Spacious Skies."

For his Memorial Day sermon the Rev. Elisha Kneisley will speak upon the theme: "Our Bulwarks of Defense." The Rev. Mr. Kneisley stated:

"The sermon is based on two remarkable statements; one from the twentieth Psalm and the other from a quotation taken from the farewell address of George Washington.

"The first is 'In the Name of Our God, we will set up our Banners'; the second, 'Let us erect a banner unto which the wise and prudent may resort.'

"Both quotations have a direct bearing on national life and they both place a religious emphasis as the basis of good government.

"Today our mind's thought is on Memorial Day. The day had a small beginning, when the good women of the South, out of an expression of love, placed flowers on the graves of their soldier dead one day each year. Since that time it has become a national custom.

"We are fortunate in living in a land where we can do things both collectively, and individually. That means we have general liberties. If we are to keep these liberties we must have banners that we can set up, unto which the wise and prudent may resort.

Highroads Of Universe

By DR. J. GLOVER JOHNSON
Professor of Religion
Marietta College

Prayer differs from meditation about God in that it thinks of Him in the second person—"Thou"—while contemplation thinks of Him in the third person—"He." Prayer, therefore is direct social fellowship with God. As such it is the highest privilege within the power of man. Heiler significantly begins the closing paragraph of Prayer with these words:

"As the mysterious linking of man with the Eternal, prayer is an incomprehensible wonder, a miracle of miracles which is daily brought to pass in the devout soul."

As has already been implied, prayer has inestimable value for personality growth. It affords one a Great Confidant to whom one can open his heart and mind in confession of mistakes. This is one of the deepest needs of human nature. Otherwise, unwholesome and dangerous repressions are built up within the self. A feeling of self-conscious guilt is injurious to the constructive development of the self. Prayer for forgiveness to the God Revealed by Jesus Christ removes this danger.

It does not stop there. It moves on beyond that point and gives one the greatest possible spiritual and mental strength by seeing one's life linked with that of God in living from day to day. It is of invaluable assistance to know that one does not battle alone in the "struggle for existence."

But prayer should not be for oneself alone. One only improves oneself in selfishness if confession and self-strengthening are the boundary-lines of his praying. The "model prayer," which Jesus gave to his disciples upon their request, shows that the outreach and emphasis in prayer should be social rather than individualistic:

"Our Father who art in heaven. Hallowed by thy name Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors. And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil."

Prayer, therefore, has great potentiality in developing one's social point of view.

The importance of prayer cannot be overstated.

1st EUB Plans Time Change On June 4

First Evangelical United Brethren church will initiate a unified church school and morning worship plan beginning June 4.

This new venture is planned to meet the needs of persons who wish to attend church service and also go elsewhere on Sunday.

The service will begin at 9:30 a. m. and close at 10:40 a. m. Order of worship will be followed with church school.

Fidelis Chorus and adult choir will sing as scheduled and the Rev. Carl L. Wilson will deliver the sermon. Classes will then retire to their rooms for the regular lesson study.

The new schedule is to permit a combination of the regular church school and morning worship in one hour and ten minutes.

Evening Worship will be discontinued until Sept. 10. The unified service will be the only public worship of the day in First EUB church during June, July and August.

Church Officers Booked For 1st EUB Ceremonies

Completing the stewardship emphases for the month of May, First Evangelical United Brethren church Sunday will install all general church, auxiliary and Sunday school class officers and teachers during worship at 10:30 a. m.

Dr. B. H. Cain, department of church extension, Dayton, will be the installing officer.

Dr. Cain, former superintendent of the St. Joseph conference in Indiana, has been with the church extension department since 1937. He majors in stewardship, having written several books and a number of pamphlets which have received wide distribution in church circles.

Congregational hymns to be sung in the service are "Open My Eyes, That I May See" and "True-Hearted, Whole-Hearted." Scriptural exhortation "To the Work" will be read from St. Matthew 9:35-38; 10:1-20; and I Corinthians 3:9-17.

Lucille Kirkwood will play "Vision," "God Is a Spirit" and "Coronation March" at the organ. The adult choir, directed by Ray Beery, will sing the anthem "Like as a Father" with solo by Clarence Radcliffe.

Mrs. Paul Dawson, Gladys Noggle and Mrs. Ezra Pritchard, members of the board of Christian Education, will call the roll of their respective departmental officers, who shall assemble at the altar for the consecration service.

Lutherans Schedule Memorials

Trinity Lutheran church will hold a special Memorial Day church service this Sunday. All hymns, scripture readings, prayers, anthems and the sermon will be of patriotic nature.

The service will begin at 10:15 a. m. with the sermon "Memorial Day, a day of Lingered Memories," delivered by the Rev. George L. Troutman. The theme is developed from the text of I John 5:4: "For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?"

The chancel will be decorated for the service with floral tributes from the members. These memorial tributes will be received prior to the service.

Trinity Lutheran Church extends an invitation to visitors who have no church affiliations to attend the service.

The Rev. Mr. Troutman will deliver the baccalaureate address for Pickaway Township school seniors at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Trinity Lutheran church will prepare for its 25th annual Bible school with registration at 2:30 p. m. Friday. The school is open for all boys and girls of the community between the ages of 5 and 17 inclusive. No registration fee is needed. The school is financed by Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood.

Regular classes will begin June 5 at 9 a. m. Classes will be dismissed each day at 11:30 a. m.

Courses in the school will include classes in music, Bible stories, handwork, carpentry, dramatics and Bible study.

Registrations will close at 9 a. m. June 7. The school will be conducted for three weeks, Mondays through Fridays.

'Singspiration' Rites Readied

A special "singspiration" song service will be held in Church of the Nazarene at 9 p. m. Sunday following evangelistic services.

The "singspiration" will consist of solos, duets and trios featuring talent of the church and from other churches in the city.

Sunday school and morning worship will be combined at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Sermon for the combined service will be "The Blessedness of Divine Relationship," delivered by the Rev. D. E. Clay.

Young people of the church are to meet at 7:15 p. m., followed by the evangelistic service at 8 p. m.

ENDANGERING THE NATION

GAMBLING has attracted the attention of an august body with a longwinded name. The American Academy of Political and Social Science has devoted the May issue of its magazine, the Annals, to commercialized gambling. This is described as a dirty business, a kin to crime even where it is legalized, and impossible to keep in order by any licensing system. To operate, it must have political or police protection; and it cannot get either without paying. That tends to corrupt our governmental system.

What is to be done about it? The elimination of telegraph and telephone services to bookmakers would help, if it could be done in a sound manner. For the cure of the individual, who furnishes the capital on which gambling syndicates operate, various suggestions are made. The influence of an addict's friends and employer might help to reduce his indulgence in this waste of his resources.

"Alcoholics Anonymous" is an organization which has done much to break the grip of the vice of uncontrolled drinking on its practitioners. Why not a Gamblers Anonymous? Paul S. Deland, managing editor of the Christian Science Monitor, says that such an organization, formed in California sixteen months ago, now has several thousand members.

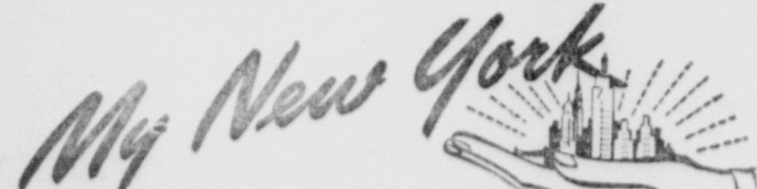

Gambling has long been looked on as a habit which is merely a matter of personal choice. It now appears to be more than this. It is a disease which is rotting the structure of the nation.

CHURCH AND COMMUNISM

FAR FROM showing a disposition to pull out of Communist-controlled countries, the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions is planning special training for missionaries assigned to such areas, it was announced recently.

Viewing the rise of Communism as a problem for the church, and pointing out that it must be reckoned with in nearly every part of the world, the Presbyterian statement said that Christianity can neither flee from Communism nor compromise with it on basic moral and spiritual issues. It must meet man's needs on the spiritual level, where Communism has nothing to offer, say these churchmen.

This militant stand, contrasting with an attitude of aloof disapproval of Communism, may prove in the long run to be an effective means of dealing with this destructive force. The patience needed in waiting for its results, however, is likely to be monumental.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—The average crew of movie-makers visiting New York to make what the trade calls location shots is a pretty miserable thing.

The camera and lighting men get the galloping melancholies because the weather is unpredictable. Unpredictable—that's another word for terrible.

The director gripes because you can't keep New York crowds under control for any length of time, and also because ribald remarks are made by objective spectators about the beret on his head and the ascot tucked around his neck.

The actor or actress is completely unhappy because there is a startling lack of hero worship in the Manhattanite's make-up. He not only doesn't ask for their autographs; he is prone to eye them coldly as they are about to emote and make some crack like "This is Gregory Peck?" To say we are rough on an actor's ego is an understatement.

My own views on movie-making in New York are simple, backward and shared by many other New Yorkers. They are: movies—who wants them? Mayor William O'Dwyer has been making desperate Chamber-of-Commerce efforts to wheedle the moviemakers to the big town in recent years, but I assure you he is doing so in the face of considerable public opinion.

This is a complex, and delicately-gear town, and the influx of scene-shooters could wreck its timing completely. The staging of fake accidents in Lexington avenue, for instance, would interrupt completely the schedule of real accidents that take place there daily.

However, in the last year or so, a newly-formed New York movie company has been making films within the limits of our five boroughs, and with such financial success that it plans to remain in New York indefinitely, so it would seem only fair to report on its antics and tell just how it has been getting along.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

In a country like ours, the best that those out of power can do is to check, scrutinize, criticize and purify on the anvil of the truth, those who are in power. So, when the Republicans were in power, the Democrats were righteous and attacked the corruption of the Republicans.

In the 1924 platform of the Democratic Party appeared this paragraph:

"We arraign the Republican Party for attempting to limit inquiry into official delinquencies and to impede, if not to frustrate, the investigations to which in the beginning the Republican Party and leaders assented, but which later they regarded with dismay."

And also this one:

"Such are the exigencies of partisan politics that Republican leaders are teaching the strange doctrine that public censure should be directed against those who expose crime rather than against criminals who have committed the offenses."

This sounds very much like Senator McCarthy talking about the current Democrats. In 1924, the Democrat who most strongly attacked the Republicans was Burton K. Wheeler of Montana. He has told me that when the Teapot Dome investigation started, he did not have very much to go on. He certainly had less than is now available in the "Amerasia" case. The only way Wheeler could make the case stick was to get at the files in the Department of Justice and the Navy Department.

For a younger generation, it is in order to say that it was believed that Harry Daugherty, then attorney-general of the United States, during the Harding administration, was involved in corruption. Wheeler, in the course of the investigation, demanded the files concerning Teapot Dome from Daugherty, who refused to give them to him.

Wheeler made a terrific noise about how the Republicans were covering up corruption. So, President Coolidge called in Daugherty and asked for his resignation. Daugherty resigned. Harlan F. Stone, a distinguished professor of law at Columbia university and eventually one of the greatest justices of the United States Supreme Court, was appointed attorney-general and he turned over to Wheeler every single file that he asked for, as a minority member of the congressional committee making the investigation.

The 1924 Congress was a Republican. Nevertheless, it passed, on Feb. 8, 1924, the "Joint Resolution of Congress Respecting Prosecution for Cancellation of Oil Leases." This resolution provided:

"Whereas it appears from evidence taken by the Committee on Public Lands and Surveys of the United States Senate that certain lease of Naval Reserve No. 3, in the state of Wyoming, bearing date April 7, 1922, made in form by the government of the United States, through Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, and Edwin Denby, secretary of the Navy, as lessor, to the Mammoth Oil Co., as lessee, and that certain contract between the government of the United States and the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Co., dated April 25, 1922, signed by Edward C. CHAPTER TWENTY
AS THE thunder sounded, there was a concerted move to rush everything from the porch into the kitchen. In the kitchen no one tried to talk above the almost continuous roll of thunder. Eliza went to a window and stood there, watching the storm and Chris Cameron joined her but they did not say anything to each other.

"John, that window in the office that leaks!"

It would take John a little time to stuff a towel into the cracks in the frame, as he'd done in other rainstorms.

John left the room. She moved close to George, slipped her hand into his pocket. It was a game they'd played before—he'd put his hand in and squeeze hers or bend her fingers back or tickle her palm. But now he drew a little away from her, muttering from a corner of his mouth, "Cut it out, Lyn."

John came back into the room. "No damage—rain's coming the other way."

Then the storm stopped as suddenly as it had broken. Chris said to Jeremy, "Think we'd better take advantage of this and walk along home."

George brought out Eliza's coat and his own. "A swell party, Mrs. Streeter."

"I enjoyed it ever so much. Thanks for inviting me," said Eliza.

Marilyn forced a show of gaiety. "By! I'll be seeing you both soon!" But after they had gone she stood very still at the kitchen table, picturing the intimacy of their ride through the dark. She'd only ridden with George in daylight, when anyone could see...

John picked up the alarm clock and began to wind it. At the rasping sound it made, Marilyn swung around on him.

"You won't need to set the alarm very much longer! What you said to George—the way you said it..."

John put the clock down on the table. "Even if I lose my job at the mill, I won't be sorry I said it—the way I said it." He spoke in the harsh tone he had, then, "Going to wash these dishes? I'll dry."

"I'm leaving them—I don't want to look at them now!"

John came around the table, close to her. He moved to put his hand on her shoulder, then let it fall to his side. "Just what is there between you and Culbert?"

The unexpectedness of the question and the quiet way in which he asked it threw Marilyn into confusion. Though, after tonight, she could say in all truth, "There's nothing," she wouldn't, for that would be acknowledging it to herself and she was not going to do that—not yet! She tossed her head in a little show of defiance. "I don't know why you're asking me that, now!"

"One time is the same as another. I'm not blind, Lyn. I saw the way you looked at him tonight. Will you answer me? Is there anything?"

She drew in a little breath. "If I do like him, it's your own fault!"

John said quietly, "Probably it is," and turned and walked out.

ENDANGERING THE NATION

GAMBLING has attracted the attention of an august body with a longwinded name. The American Academy of Political and Social Science has devoted the May issue of its magazine, the Annals, to commercialized gambling. This is described as a dirty business, a kin to crime even where it is legalized, and impossible to keep in order by any licensing system. To operate, it must have political or police protection; and it cannot get either without paying. That tends to corrupt our governmental system.

What is to be done about it? The elimination of telegraph and telephone services to bookmakers would help, if it could be done in a sound manner. For the cure of the individual, who furnishes the capital on which gambling syndicates operate, various suggestions are made. The influence of an addict's friends and employer might help to reduce his indulgence in this waste of his resources.

"Alcoholics Anonymous" is an organization which has done much to break the grip of the vice of uncontrolled drinking on its practitioners. Why not a Gamblers Anonymous? Paul S. Deland, managing editor of the Christian Science Monitor, says that such an organization, formed in California sixteen months ago, now has several thousand members.

Gambling has long been looked on as a habit which is merely a matter of personal choice. It now appears to be more than this. It is a disease which is rotting the structure of the nation.

CHURCH AND COMMUNISM

FAR FROM showing a disposition to pull out of Communist-controlled countries, the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions is planning special training for missionaries assigned to such areas, it was announced recently.

Viewing the rise of Communism as a problem for the church, and pointing out that it must be reckoned with in nearly every part of the world, the Presbyterian statement said that Christianity can neither flee from Communism nor compromise with it on basic moral and spiritual issues. It must meet man's needs on the spiritual level, where Communism has nothing to offer, say these churchmen.

This militant stand, contrasting with an attitude of aloof disapproval of Communism, may prove in the long run to be an effective means of dealing with this destructive force. The patience needed in waiting for its results, however, is likely to be monumental.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

In a country like ours, the best that those out of power can do is to check, scrutinize, criticize and purify on the anvil of the truth, those who are in power. So, when the Republicans were in power, the Democrats were righteous and attacked the corruption of the Republicans.

In the 1924 platform of the Democratic Party appeared this paragraph:

"We arraign the Republican Party for attempting to limit inquiry into official delinquencies and to impede, if not to frustrate, the investigations to which in the beginning the Republican Party and leaders assented, but which later they regarded with dismay."

And also this one:

"Such are the exigencies of partisan politics that Republican leaders are teaching the strange doctrine that public censure should be directed against those who expose crime rather than against criminals who have committed the offenses."

This sounds very much like Senator McCarthy talking about the current Democrats. In 1924, the Democrat who most strongly attacked the Republicans was Burton K. Wheeler of Montana. He has told me that when the Teapot Dome investigation started, he did not have very much to go on. He certainly had less than is now available in the "Amerasia" case. The only way Wheeler could make the case stick was to get at the files in the Department of Justice and the Navy Department.

For a younger generation, it is in order to say that it was believed that Harry Daugherty, then attorney-general of the United States, during the Harding administration, was involved in corruption. Wheeler in the course of the investigation demanded the files concerning Teapot Dome from Daugherty, who refused to give them to him.

Wheeler made a terrific noise about how the Republicans were covering up corruption. So, President Coolidge called in Daugherty and asked for his resignation. Daugherty resigned. Harlan F. Stone, a distinguished professor of law at Columbia university and eventually one of the greatest justices of the United States Supreme Court, was appointed attorney-general and he turned over to Wheeler every single file that he asked for, as a minority member of the congressional committee making the investigation.

The 1924 Congress was Republican. Nevertheless, it passed, on Feb. 8, 1924, the "Joint Resolution of Congress Respecting Prosecution for Cancellation of Oil Leases." This resolution provided:

"Whereas it appears from evidence taken by the Committee on Public Lands and Surveys of the United States Senate that certain lease of Naval Reserve No. 3, in the state of Wyoming, bearing date April 7, 1922, made in form by the government of the United States, through Albert B. of the room.

"Look at the stars—how close they seem," said Chris as he and Jeremy turned up the road.

Jeremy looked up at the night sky, spread with stars, but she could find no voice to comment on their brilliancy. A wretchedness of spirit, worse even than that which she had suffered there at the table, kept her silent.

That he she had told—it had come out almost before she knew she was going to speak it, though that didn't make it less a lie or less frightening.

Chris talked of the telescope he planned to have at his place, some day. "When I get it rigged up, you must bring your children to look through it."

Her throat closed tighter. If he knew, he wouldn't ask her to come and look through his telescope! When he knew...

That would be her punishment—to confess her lie to him. He'd been so nice to her when they were playing that silly game, saved her from showing herself up a perfect fool! Nice to her all through the horrible evening. And now he was going on talking and not noticing that she couldn't say a word.

But she wouldn't tell him until they got to the Abels' home. She wished it were twice as far away.

Too soon they reached the path that led to the house. "Got a key?" asked Chris. "Or don't they lock their door?"

"I guess—I don't know—I've never been out at night." Jeremy had stopped on the path, her face averted. "Mr. Cameron, I've got to tell you..." Her voice choked and she had to wait a moment to go on. "I told a lie to everyone tonight. I am related to Roland Penny. He's my brother, but I don't want anyone to know, so—so I said what I did."

She waited, then, with hanging head and fast-beating heart, for his contempt. Never, never again would he speak to her with that nice tone in his voice!

But Chris said gently, "You poor kid—it can't be easy to deny a brother!"

She lifted her head, her thin face, close to his, illumined. "You—don't despise me? Oh, you're—you're wonderful!" With that she turned and ran from him up the path to the door. "I didn't do it!"

Chris waited only long enough to see the door shut behind Jeremy and then went on toward the Notch. "The kid's in some pretty tough jam with herself," he reflected. "Hiding up here from that brother, if I'm not mistaken." That would explain the tight look on her face, the almost furtive manner, that had made him wonder about her, feel sorry for her, after their first meeting. It had been an impulse springing from that pity that had led him to ask her if he might stop for her to go to this party.

"One good talk might straighten things out for her!"

Then he laughed, though there was no amusement in the sound. He was thinking of himself as the one to give the good talk, of course. Moved to it, as he'd been that day John Streeter came to his place. The old habit lifting its head again.

He did not regret that occasion with John. He had an idea he had bolstered him up some, and he felt rather certain that no other such moment would come up between them again. But with Jeremy, it might be very different.

Elinor Grammer had told him he was "wonderful," in the same over-emotional way Jeremy had cried it out, there in front of Abel's.

His concern for Elinor Grammer, that first day she had come to his study in the parish house of St. Stephen's, had been as impersonal as the concern he felt now for Jeremy. She was about the age of Jeremy, as off-the-beam. From the pulpit he'd urged his parishioners to come to him with their problems. "Did I think I was God?"—and Elinor had come. Her trouble was that she did not believe in anything; she had tried and tried, and she couldn't, she had told him. It was his first year of ministry; he'd seen it a God-sent opportunity to prove himself a worthy shepherd.

She had come again and again. She had claimed he was helping her. Then, after a few months, he had found it wasn't God she really wanted.

She was small and appealing and lovely, in a fragile way; it had not been difficult to confuse his own feelings and become engaged to her.

If Elinor grew spiritually Chris never had known. He knew he didn't, though not until later. But St. Stephen's prospered. Talk began of building a new church. His sermons were drawing larger and larger congregations.

Recalling it, Chris tried, as he had countless times before, to figure out just when his doubts of himself had begun to take shape.

It was Hannah McGovern who had opened his eyes to himself. He had found her one day, reading from some sheets of a half-written sermon he had picked up from the desk in his study. She'd gone in to clean and he'd gone in and found her standing with the sheets in her hand.

She'd put them down quickly. "I was just taking a look at it, Reverend—I didn't do no more."

"Come to church next Sunday and you'll hear me preach it."

She had shaken her head. "St. Stephen's isn't for the likes of me."

"That isn't the way to look at it, Hannah." He'd made some such protest, but she'd only shaken her head and he hadn't urged her further.

Then he'd told Elinor about it. "But, Chris, don't you see she's right? Why, she cleans for almost everyone here in Willow Ridge! She has better judgment than you—she knows how uncomfortable she'd feel!" Later he often had wished he had taken Hannah McGovern by her hand some Sunday and led her down the aisle past pews filled with those women for whom she cleaned. But that was not until after he had resigned.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Nearly 200 persons attended the ox roast Saturday on the John Dunlap farm near Williamsport.

A concert by Circleville high school band and a Boy Scout softball game will open Ted Lewis Park Wednesday.

Howard Thomas of Circleville Route 2 reported Monday that foxes killed 105 of his turkeys last night.

TEN YEARS AGO

Joe Glitt, W. B. Watts, Nolan Sims, Junior Sims and Elmer Barr attended the Cincinnati-St. Louis baseball game today.

The name of the company is Laurel Films and it's the brainchild of a couple of ex-servicemen named Joe Lerner and Rex Carlton. With A Dream and Plenty of Courage, as the saying goes, Lerner and Carlton made two films—C-Man and Guilty Bystander—in the last 12 months, and discovered that they could save about 20 per cent in money, compared with Hollywood costs, and about 33 per cent in time, thanks to Mayor O'Dwyer's desire to help.

TO MAKE ONE OF THE MOVIES, Guilty Bystander, Lerner and Carlton took a crew into Red Hook, near the Gowanus canal and one of the toughest parts of Brooklyn. Red Hook is the section where members of Murder, Inc., used to go for weekend visits, when they felt they were getting soft and wanted to get back into fighting condition.

Well, with a few hundred police on hand to help out (and if New Yorkers want to know where their cops are when they can't find them, that might be the answer: they're out making movies), the citizens of Red Hook behaved peacefully and laid off the gun-fighting and knuckle-dusting—but they did get into the spirit of things.

Zachary Scott was the star of the film, along with Faye Emerson, Sam Levene and Mary Boland, and when Zach whipped out his pistol and started firing at the villain, he got a number of suggestions shouted at him from the sidelines, on how to draw a bead on a man or how to fire so you'd get your victim right between the eyes. The advice was expert.

The Red Hookers, their number doubtlessly including a second-story man or two, also gave Scott some sound tips on how to climb a ladder, and when they saw Faye Emerson, a generously endowed girl, they gave her a thundering ovation. Miss Emerson, some of you may have heard, is the television performer whose penchant for low-cut evening gowns has caused a stir in these parts.

The noisy appreciation of Miss Emerson's charms threatened to delay the movie's shooting considerably, but finally Lerner, who was directing, made a speech over an amplifying system and explained how you couldn't film scenes if it was noisy, so the crowds quieted down. Between takes, however, Miss Emerson drew intermittent rounds of applause and a number of offers for dates.

Mayor O'Dwyer even loaned the boys a subway station, a train with six cars, and a tunnel, for a few days. A little-traveled spur was used, and the train full of weary movie extras kept going back and forth on it.

The shooting of C-Man was spread out around the city, at such places as the Queensborough Bridge, the International Airport at Idlewild, the Staten Island ferry and parts of 44th street.

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—The average crew of movie-makers visiting New York to make what the trade calls location shots is a pretty miserable thing.

The camera and lighting men get the galloping melancholies because the weather is unpredictable. Unpredictable—that's another word for terrible.

The director gripes because you can't keep New York crowds under control for any length of time, and also because ribald remarks are made by objective spectators about the beret on his head and the ascot tucked around his neck.

The actor or actress is completely unhappy because there is a startling lack of hero worship in the Manhattanite's make-up. He not only doesn't ask for their autographs; he is prone to eye them coldly as they are about to make some crack like "This is Gregory Peck?" To say we are rough on an actor's ego is an understatement.

My own views on movie-making in New York are simple, backward and shared by many other New Yorkers. They are: movies—who wants them? Mayor William O'Dwyer has been making desperate Chamber-of-Commerce efforts to wheedle the moviemakers to the big town in recent years, but I assure you he is doing so in the face of considerable public opinion.

This is a complex, and delicately-geared town, and the influx of scene-shooters could wreck its timing completely. The staging of fake accidents in Lexington avenue, for instance, would interrupt completely the schedule of real accidents that take place there daily.

However, in the last year or so, a newly-formed New York movie company has been making films within the limits of our five boroughs, and with such financial success that it plans to remain in New York indefinitely, so it would seem only fair to report on its antics and tell just how it has been getting along.

My own views on movie-making in New York are simple, backward and shared by many other New Yorkers. They are: movies—who wants them? Mayor William O'Dwyer has been making desperate Chamber-of-Commerce efforts to wheedle the moviemakers to the big town in recent years, but I assure you he is doing so in the face of considerable public opinion.

This is a complex, and delicately-geared town, and the influx of scene-shooters could wreck its timing completely. The staging of fake accidents in Lexington avenue, for instance, would interrupt completely the schedule of real accidents that take place there daily.

However, in the last year or so, a newly-formed New York movie company has been making films within the limits of our five boroughs, and with such financial success that it plans to remain in New York indefinitely, so it would seem only fair to report on its antics and tell just how it has been getting along.

Display Of Year's Work Is Feature Of Annual Kindergarten Tea Here

Teacher Tells Of Progress

The best of the year's work was on display when Circleville Kindergarten Association held its annual Spring tea Thursday evening in the kindergarten rooms of Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Robert Jones, kindergarten teacher, had selected samples of brush painting, finger painting, puppets and work books to display for guests at the tea. Guests included mothers of present kindergarten children and mothers of children who are registered for next year.

Mrs. Jones explained the kindergarten routine which always included roll call, share time, rest and refreshments, work period, music period, out-of-door play and story hour.

Mrs. Jones mentioned especially the progress made by timid children in share time when they talk to the others about their treasures. She also spoke of the progress made in the rhythm band.

Mrs. Jones stated that kindergarten children will receive report cards Friday which is the last day of the kindergarten year.

Thursday, Kindergarteners will hold a picnic in Ted Lewis Park.

When Mrs. Jones had finished her explanation she was presented with a wedding gift.

During the business session which the president, Mrs. Richard Samuel conducted, June 22 was set as date for the card party to be held in the Elks' Home.

Mrs. Samuel appointed Mrs. James Reichelderfer and Mrs. Ned Griner in charge of ticket sale.

Mrs. Richard Funk and Mrs. Gladden Troutman will be responsible for food arrangements.

Mrs. J. M. Hedges will be in charge of prizes.

Mrs. Henry Reid will head the card games committee and Mrs. James Price will be chairman of service committee.

The tea table, from which refreshments were served, was decorated with a bouquet of Philadelphia long sprays of which trailed to the table corners.

Mrs. Samuel presided at the punch bowl.

Presbyterian Group Meets

Mrs. Robert Adkins of Montclair avenue was hostess to Group B of Presbyterian Women's Association Wednesday evening.

On the program were Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson who reviewed the latter half of William C. Kerr's book, "Japan Begins Again," Mrs. William A. Thomas, who read an article, "The Brother Whom We Have Seen" by Mrs. W. O. Milton; and Mrs. Herbert Sprenger, who read an article "GI Japanese Brides."

The article Mrs. Sprenger read had been written by Mrs. William C. Kerr, wife of the author of the book the group has been studying. It dealt with the training given Japanese brides by the government before they come to America.

Mrs. Turney Glick will be hostess to the group June 28.

Berger Guild 6 'Adopts' Room

Purchasing committee was named when Berger Hospital Guild 6 met in Business and Professional Women's club rooms Wednesday evening.

Mrs. G. G. Campbell, chairman, named Mrs. Louis Mebs, Mrs. Ned Harden and Miss Bess Gordon to purchase drapes, chair cover and spread for the room in hospital which the guild has "adopted."

Next meeting will be a picnic in Ted Lewis Park.

Winning games which followed the business meeting were Mrs. Clyde Wells, Mrs. C. M. Beatty, Miss Bess Gordon, Miss Ann Gordon and Mrs. O. C. Turner.

Personals

Mrs. C. O. Kerns of West Union street will be hostess to Circleville Women's Christian Temperance Union at 2:30 p. m. Friday in her home. Miss Letha Beavers will be presiding officer. Mrs. Ralph Long will be in charge of the program.

When Mr. and Mrs. John R. Adams and son, Robert Lee, of the Stoutsville community entertained at dinner recently, places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stevenson and daughter Nancy and Karen of Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stevenson of Washington C. H.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morris of New Holland; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Irwin of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morris of Houston, Tex.; and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Popovich of Richmond, Ind.

A pie auction was highlight of the Trinity Lutheran church Family Circle meeting Thursday evening. A covered dish supper in the parish house attended by 50 members preceded the auction. Auction proceeds were turned over to the Family Circle treasury.

Mrs. D. A. Marshall of Washington Township was hostess to Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren church. Eighteen members and guests were present for the devotionals conducted by Mrs. Oakley Leist. Mrs. Loring Leist was in charge of the program.

Miss Clara Southard of West Franklin street attended an alumni banquet of Mt. Sterling high school Friday evening. Miss Southard is a graduate of the class of 1886.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baird and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Horch and son Billy, have left for a vacation in Goulis River, Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bell of Watt street will be in the Baird home during the vacation of the Bairds who are the parents of Mrs. Bell.

John Graffis gave a report on "Selecting A Dairy Cow" when Washington Climbers 4-H club met recently in the home of Carl Martin. Members planned to go to church as a group Sunday. Nine members were present. David Bolender will entertain the club June 8.

Nuptial Rites Are Read Here

The Rev. Elisha Kneisley officiated at the wedding of Miss Margaret Ellen Reams of Plain City and Charles Vernon Swink of Marysville in the Methodist parsonage here at 10 a. m. Friday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reams of Plain City; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vron Swink of Marysville. Both are students in Ohio State university. Attending the couple were Miss Patricia Hutson of Marysville and Edwin Gezman of Canton. The bride's brother and sister also were present.

Women's Club Combine Plans Concert, Social

Several business matters were discussed Tuesday evening when Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs held a meeting in the session room of the Presbyterian church.

An ice cream social and band concert were planned for next month in Ted Lewis Park. Mrs. Sterling Poling, president of the association, named Junior Women's Club to be responsible for planning the event.

It will be an association project, however, and all clubs will participate in the work.

Mrs. Robert Kibler will be chairman of the planning committee. Other Junior Women's Club members who will assist in arrangements are Mrs. George Dearborn, Mrs. Dwight Davis and Mrs. Poling.

Circleville Community Band, of which Alfred Lee is director, will give a concert in connection with the social.

Proceeds will be turned over to ways and means committee chairman, Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, for the clubhouse fund.

The first completed project of the association towards the clubhouse fund was reported by Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker. Proceeds of the recent silver tea will go toward the building fund. In Mrs. Hunsicker's report she stated that all silver tea expenses would be jointly shared by herself and Miss Mary Heffner. Mrs. Hunsicker is chairman of social events committee.

The executive board of the association will continue to meet during the Summer months. On the board beside Mrs. Poling are Mrs. Cliff Beaver, vice-president; Mrs. E. W. Hedges, secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Jones, treasurer; and committee chairmen, Mrs. Hunsicker, Mrs. Barnhart, Mrs. W. L. Mack, Mrs. Blanche Motschman and Mrs. Lincoln Mader.

300 Turn Out For Canteen Benefit Dance

Adults and youths mingled company at the Youth Canteen benefit dance held Friday night in Memorial Hall.

More than 300 were present to dance to the Columbus orchestra, Four Jacks and a Jill, which provided both dance music and entertainment.

Decorations in red and white, which had been used at the junior-senior prom, formed the background for the canteen dance.

Making general arrangements were Mrs. Donald Rader, Ed Arney and Mrs. Karl Mason who worked with Don Henkle, president of Youth Canteen Parent's Association.

Washington 4-H Club Named

"Buttons and Bows" is the name Washington Township girls have given their new 4-H club. Fifteen members and three guests were present Wednesday when a meeting was held in Washington Township school.

A committee was appointed to form a constitution. June 5 has been set for the next meeting also to take place in the school.

Woman Of The Week

Mrs. Karl Herrmann, Music Lover; Excels At Pipe Organ Or Cake-Baking

Mrs. Karl Herrmann is Woman of the Week.

One of Circleville's talented musicians, she has spent a whole life accompanying the city's vocalists, playing the organ in church, fitting in with her musical ability wherever and whenever she was needed.

Mrs. Herrmann took her first music lesson in 1902 from Miss Emma Mader to whom she is very grateful for a thorough musical foundation.

When Mrs. Herrmann was a little girl in Franklin Street grade school she played the organ for the children when they marched into the school building after recesses. She recalls that she would dash into the building a few minutes ahead of the others, seat herself at the piano, which was at that time in the hall, and accompany a drummer while the youngsters filed into the building.

That was, she believes, the beginning of her career as town accompanist.

Right now Mrs. Herrmann is finishing her 25th year as Circleville Rotary Club pianist. Her record tops the record of most local Rotarians. In the years she has been with Rotary—and she began when Robert Brehmer was president in about Rotary's third year in Circleville—she has only missed a few meetings.

Mrs. Herrmann has thoroughly enjoyed her years with Rotary. She has, in fact, a very tender spot for Rotary. It was there that she met her husband, Karl Herrmann.

He was song leader, she recalled, when she first became Rotary pianist. Their courtship might be classed as a Rotarian courtship. She met Karl Herrmann at a Rotary meeting one week. She went with him the next week to a church dinner in Mt. Pleasant church where a lot of Rotary members were taking their wives. She received her diamond ring for Christmas and in April they were married.

When Alys Seitz became Mrs. Karl Herrmann, Karl issued an edict, "No Church organ!" So Mrs. Herrmann dutifully gave up her position as organist at the Methodist church where she had played for four years.

While her daughter, Carolyn, was young Mrs. Herrmann stuck to her husbands "No church organ" edict. But one day the vestrymen of the Lutheran church called on Mrs. Herrmann—in the morning and a wash day morning at that—to ask if she would be organist for the Lutheran church. Mrs. Herrmann who had always adored playing the organ, thought long and hard and finally accepted the position. That was 15 years ago and Mrs.

Herrmann has only had a substitute organist once in all 15 years. Karl, incidentally, has long since forgotten his edict.

One of the interesting things Mrs. Herrmann did before her marriage was to play for vaudeville performances in Walker Baughman's "Opera House." And according to Mrs. Herrmann "you meet all kinds of people when you play for vaudeville."

She says it was highly entertaining for her to play at the opera house, "nothing cut or dried about it." Baughman would send word that he had procured some vaudeville artists who would arrive in Circleville about dinner time. Mrs. Herrmann would hustle over to the theatre for a rehearsal and sometimes stay for three performances of the show.

Being church organist keeps Mrs. Herrmann well occupied. During Easter and Christmas seasons, with two church choirs to accompany, she all but lives in the church.

Mrs. Herrmann has loved the organ above all instruments from the time she accompanied her father, Carl Seitz to German services in the Lutheran church where he was organist. She recalls that he sometimes allowed her to play for the services.

Yes, Mrs. Herrmann admits being a church organist is a strenuous task. Church services have to synchronize and the task of the organist is to direct the timing. Playing the organ, however, is not a chore but a wonderful relaxation for Mrs. Herrmann.

During the war when Carolyn was attending Ohio State university and Karl was in Dayton doing war work, Mrs. Herrmann held herself rigidly to a difficult schedule.

Mornings she worked in the Brehmer Greenhouse. At noon she helped in the restaurant in the American hotel. In the afternoons she was back in the greenhouse again. At dinnertime she helped in the hotel for a couple of hours. Then she went to the church to practice with choir members. All in all it was a hard driving schedule. She was able to do it day after day because she found the music so relaxing.

Mrs. Herrmann has always been interested in Girl Scout work. When her daughter was a scout, Mrs. Herrmann was un-

Bride-Elect Is Honored By Mrs. Eitel

Mrs. James Eitel was hostess Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Mary Jane Collins, bride-elect of Warden Skinner.

Decorations were in green and white with streamers extending from the chandelier to the table on which the gifts for Miss Collins were placed.

Assisting Mrs. Eitel were Becky Skinner and Mrs. Russell Teets.

Prizes went to Mrs. Robert Collins and Betty Lou Skinner when games were played following the gift opening.

Other guests included were Mrs. Wirtie Collins, Mrs. Fred Skinner, Helen Collins, Mrs. Kieth Smith, Mrs. Robert Patrick and son, Gary, Mrs. Roy Beatty, Mrs. Frank David, Mrs. Earl Willis, Rebecca Collins, Mrs. Dwight Collins and Miss Jean Hall.

Official Girl Scout pianist and played for all their programs.

Mrs. Herrmann also is well known for her cake baking. This she does when friends coax her for special orders. What is more, she has cake secrets which are responsible, she feels, for the excellence of her cakes. These secrets Mrs. Herrmann absolutely refuses to divulge.

Aside from her music, Mrs. Herrmann loves housekeeping and cooking. And she really would not go back to those busy war years when she had so little time for her home.

If Mrs. Herrmann will call in Brehmer Greenhouse, she will find a bouquet waiting for her as "Woman of the Week."

Ashville Group Is Entertained

Mrs. William Fortner and Miss Maud Plummer entertained Sunshine class of Ashville Evangelical United Brethren church in their home Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Francis Grant and Mrs. George Messick were game winners during the recreational hour. Refreshments were served to 11 members and guests. Mrs. Lewis Eccard and Mrs. Grant will be hostesses in June.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
We do not forget you, nor do we intend.
We think of you often, and will to the end.
Gone and forgotten by some you may be.
But dear to our memory you ever will
be.
For the many families and people who knew and loved you are now buried in the Tarleton Cemetery. People who have answered The Final Summons and have gone to The Great Beyond. I was born and raised in that neighborhood about 60 yrs. ago and I want to show my respect.

TERMITES
Cause damage in excess of fifty million dollars annually for REPAIRS alone. These destructive pests work in secret and may be destroying your property NOW. Have it inspected by an expert and be sure. There is no charge for the inspection, and if your property is infested they will tell you so. If termites are present you will be SHOWN and a fair price quoted for a treatment which is guaranteed for TEN YEARS.

Many irresponsible amateurs—self-styled "exterminators" and "part time" entomologists offer fantastic "guarantees" and bargain prices, but you owe it to yourself to be SURE you are securing the services of a thoroughly reliable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company whose guarantee really has a meaning.

An effective termite treatment must not only eliminate the termites now present in the structure, but also prevent the countless thousands of others, who live in the GROUND outside the house, from returning.

The almost unbelievable cunning of the termites makes the successful treatment of your property a job for those who have the proper equipment and the KNOW HOW. Further, because of the termites tenacity and persistence it is sometimes impossible to completely exterminate them with ONE treatment.

Therefore it is vital that the company doing the job be AVAILABLE later to return, if necessary. Unless you are SURE of this fact you may find yourself with a "Guarantee" but no one STILL IN BUSINESS to MAKE GOOD.

Always remember—a guarantee is only as good as the man who gives it.

We are local representatives of a reputable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company who are ACCREDITED MEMBERS OF THE OHIO PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION.

Call Parley

PHILADELPHIA, May 27—Commissioner Bert Bell announced today that the National Football League's annual meeting will convene in a two-day session here next Friday.

Bell said distribution of players from the three non-operating teams—Buffalo Bills, Los Angeles Rams and the Chicago Hornets—will be made at the session.

The 13-member league was formed by a merger of the old National League and the All-American Conference.

Sokolosky's

of the United States through Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, and Edwin Denby, secretary of the Navy, as lessor, to the Pan American Petroleum Co., as lessee, were executed under circumstances indicating fraud and corruption.

Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall was indicted, tried and imprisoned. The leases were cancelled. There was no coverage.

In the 1928 platform, the Republicans boasted of their virtue:

"We stand for honesty in government, for the appointment of officials whose integrity can not be questioned. We deplore the fact that any official has ever fallen from this high standard and that certain American citizens of both parties have so far forgotten their duty as citizens as to traffic in national interests for private gain. We have prosecuted and shall always prosecute any official who subordinates his public duty to his personal interest."

It is interesting that after the

Prince Hal Is Back In Form Again

Tigers Saying 'Boo' To Mighty Yanks

NEW YORK, May 27 — The New York Yankees careened onward along a smoking victory trail today, but far in the west there was a cloud—no bigger than a man's hand—and signals throughout the American League flared red for danger.

Hear this and beware: Hal Newhouser is the old Prince Hal once more. The ace Detroit Tiger lefty, hulked up with an aching arm throughout the first weeks of the season, made this his third start of the season in St. Louis last night. He took a mediocre 1-and-1 won-and-lost record into the game with him.

When it was over, Newhouser had thrown a strong six-hitter past the Browns' bats. The Tigers had won 11 to 2 to preserve their second-place standing in the American League, four games back of Casey Stengel's Bronx madmen.

The point was not obscure. If Detroit could maintain a .621 pace without Newhouser, which they have done, what are they liable to do with him?

Not that anything so mundane figured to worry the Yanks. Two runs in the sixth inning gave them a 2-0 victory over the Athletics in Philadelphia last night, even though Joe Page had to come on to subdue the last batter, Pete Suder, in the ninth and preserve Ed Lopat's fifth win.

Earlier in the day, the slumping A's had moved up Jimmy Dykes and Mickey Cochrane, the former succeeding Earle Mack as assistant to Manager Connie Mack and the latter becoming general manager of the Athletic organization.

Philadelphia's personnel-shifting was contagious, to say the least. No sooner had the tailend Chicago White Sox been slenderized 2 to 1 by Bob Feller and the Cleveland Indians in Chicago last night but the White Sox fired Manager Jack Onslow and appointed Coach Red Corriden to take his place for the remainder of the season.

In the National League, meanwhile, the status remained ex-cruciatingly quo.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phils, separated by one game in their revolving-door act at the top of the standings, both won. Jack Banta, a relief pitcher by reputation, went all the way at Boston and five-hit the Braves 5 to 1 for the Brooks' third straight.

At New York's Polo Grounds, Robin Roberts, who is, likely, the hottest pitcher in baseball today, won his sixth of the year, the Phillies beating the Giants 3 to 2 by means of an unearned run in the eighth inning.

Roy Smalley got off a bases-loaded homerun in Pittsburgh, and that was that as the Chicago Cubs and Frank Miller blanked the Pirates 4 to 0. The defeat not only ran Pittsburgh's string of scoreless innings to 20, but enabled the Cubs to take fifth place away from Billy Meyer's Bucs in a rather private war for that uninspired spot.

The Cincinnati Reds, who come with the big built-in guarantee against doing anyone any harm, rebelled at Crosley Field last night, and, with a fanciful collection of eight runs in the seventh and eighth innings, quelled the third-place St. Louis Cardinals 9 to 4. This despite a three-run homer in the eighth by Stan, who is the man, Musial.

Top Hatters Taste Of Their First Defeat

Circleville Top Hat softball team lost its first game of the South Central Ohio League season when it split a twin bill Friday in Ted Lewis Park with Holland Electric.

The Top Hatters fell to a 4-1 defeat in the first game of the doubleheader while outlasting the Electric in the nightcap to score a 5-3 win.

The first game of the scrap was a colorful contest, with imitations by Hatter Manager Paul "Snow" Seymour of the great Lippy Leo Durocher.

Following a particularly close play at the plate between Hat Catcher Leon Sims and an Electric baserunner, "Snow" deserted his baseline coaching post to deliver an imitation of "The Lip."

Seymour's jaw manipulations netted him a seat in the dugout for the remainder of the game, riding there on the umpire's thumb.

STILLMAN Morrison was charged with the loss in the first game of the twin bill, although striking out 14 of the Electric. Morrison gave up two bases on balls and was touched for seven safeties.

Kenneth Reid was credited with the win in the second fracas, scoring six strikeouts, giving up six walks and allowing only three hits.

Big Bill Ankrom and Ernest (Snapper) Ankrom pulled a brother act in the final game to cinch the victory. The brothers each powdered homeruns in the final match.

To add color to the finale, the gallery put the needle to Newark's catcher so much that his manager lifted the boiling-over backstop, sent him into the outfield.

Walnut Youths Poised For Bids For Top Laurels

Jack Hardwick and Junior Martin of Walnut Township school Saturday sought state track honors during the annual "B" meet in Ohio State university.

Both Walnut school athletes were to have participated in two events during the classic.

Hardwick was slated to have run the 220-yard hurdles and competed in the highjump in the statewide contest while Martin was to have pounded through the mile and half mile events.

Both the lanky Hardwick and unexcitable Martin won district honors in Delaware recently, qualifying themselves for district competition.

Martin scored first place in the district meet in the mile while placing second in the half mile.

HARDWICK soared nearly six feet in the highjump event to cop the district title, while placing second in the 220-yard hurdle event.

Hardwick travelled to the university Friday to run a qualifying round in the hurdles, passing the test by winning his qualifying heat.

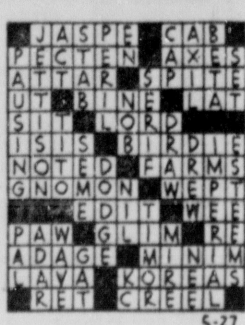

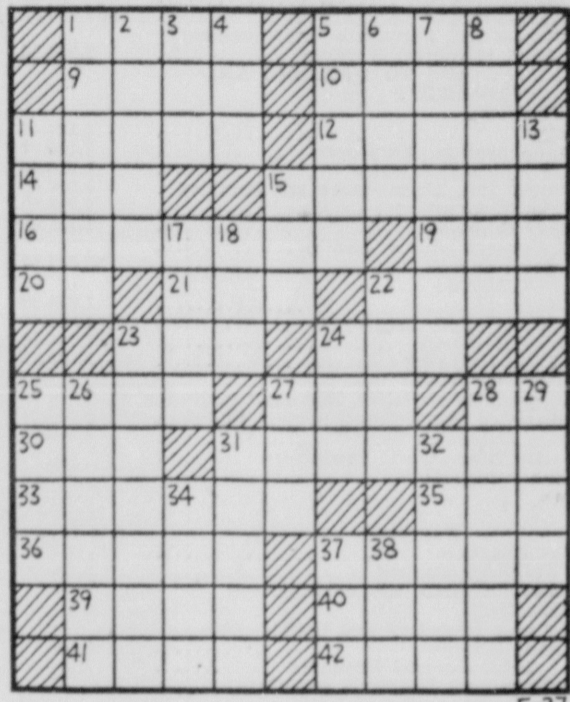

Another Walnut athlete, Ralph Strawser, was eligible to attempt to qualify in the polevault event Friday but failed to make the trip. Martin was not required to qualify in either of his events.

Walnut Coach Harry Lamb and Superintendent Alfred Axe were to have accompanied the boys to the state meet.

Tennis Court Dedication Due In Ashville

Ashville's new tennis courts in Community Park will be dedicated formally at 6:30 p. m. Monday.

The ceremony will be held to dedicate the new blacktop doubles courts in memory of the veterans of World War II.

Speaker for the program will be Guy G. Cline of Ashville, Pickaway County prosecuting attorney and a war veteran himself.

The courts were contributed to the park by Ashville Women's Civic Club.

Mrs. S. E. Duvall, president of the organization, will make the presentation to the village during the ceremony, while Mayor Elmer Malone will make the acceptance.

Music will be presented during the program by Ashville high school band, while Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and Brownie Scouts will deliver the Pledge of Allegiance.

Joe Donlin Takes Maywood Mile In 2:08

CHICAGO, May 27—Joe Donlin captured both heats of the $2,500 divided free-for-all trot which featured last night's harness racing program at Maywood Park.

Donlin trotted the six-furlong first division in 1:33 2-5 and the mile second heat in 2:08.

Jeffrey Hanover and Jerry A. Hanover were second and third respectively in the first heat. Moses and Lee Dewey finished two, three in the windup.

The secondary feature, the $1,875 Lawrence Hanover Trot, was split between Beverly McHankins and Dalzell. Bob Up and Miss Hilbert finished in that order behind the winner in the mile-long first heat. Fransonian and John Dee were second and third respectively in the second division.

'Scram' Rambo Swings Yellow Paint Brush

Although Friday's temperature was not a record breaker it was plenty hot for Circleville city service department's "specialist."

The specialist is George "Scram" Rambo of Weldon avenue.

While the other men of the service department Friday were manipulating the heavy traffic lines painting equipment over the city's streets, "Scram" calmly was sweltering at his special line of work.

"Scram" is the man who squats on the curbing at all of the downtown alleyways and safety zones and applies the new coat of brilliant yellow paint to the area.

The painter probably has the most-supervised job in town, drawing comments from the kids while the oldsters stand about and heckle.

While the worker is not subjected to heavy labor he is continuously taking the full blast from both the sun and his "supervisors."

"You bet it's hot," Scram said Friday, looking forward to a full measure of heat from both sources.

The man expects to be finished with his special work in a day or two.
